SEMI-ANNUAL SALE

After this weekend, all of the jewelry and accessories will go off sale and the clothing will start to shift off over the week as new spring begins to get distributed.

An Outback story with old and new photos coming out in the Ashland Locals Guide next week, had this picture of me from 1981 on the roof of our warehouse where we painted many a shirt. I'm wearing our home dyed, printed reconstructed army surplus pant, tee shirt, socks, shoes and bracelet. I had coffee this morning with a partner Michael, who helped me grow the company from 83-90 (6 of our own shops and wholesaling to over 3000). A very sweet, wonderful person. Afterwards Shaye and I met going over some of the old fabric designs she's bringing forward with new updates. And a few other spontaneous meeting with remarkable friends today. Wow! A day of sprouting "sacred seeds from the past, planted into the future". Fun times ... now and now and now! See ya later! (maybe tomorrow!)
