Aloha LoveTribe

When I was 17, I met a warlock at night in a tree in a park (at least he said he was a warlock). He gave me a book and the title was, God is a Mother read more

Mother love manifest in all bodies, all genders, all species ... it is an awareness of our oneness and compassion for another, for all.

Mother's Day celebrates those that have taken on the journey of birthing or adopting to be responsible for another's life as they mature into the ability to take care of themselves. Whew! What a job ... the power path of love and trust, which I call Sainthood Training!

Being accountable for the life of another and discovering the right times to let go and trust is the path of living on the edge in awareness, fueled by love.
So for all our mom/saints (in training) out there...
