Joining in the Memorial weekend sales (we love sales, what can I say!)
Beautiful warm weather in Ashland!

Ahhh ... Bay Area cold summers!

We've been selling a lot of our bamboo/cotton/lycra fleece because of the current chill, so I am adding the Outback collection of organic cotton lycra and bamboo/cotton/lycra, made locally, to the sale as well.

25% off Outback label!

Only with the Password: LoveTribe or online code: LoveTribe25

Memorial Day ... I look forward to the day, when this past and current stage of humanity, that is still "dis-membered", is just a memory.

As I see it, a time where we have been searching for our individual identities and forgot we are also one. I honor those that have been on the forefront of what I see as a rite of passage, with its pain and horrors, it's bravery and stupidities. I honor the courage of the ones that are and have been on this front line of our passage, whether that is the courage to fight in or the courage to say no to ... war. That awareness of our oneness has exponentially grown. My 4 1/2 year grandson is very aware of it, always telling me how we are all connected. And at the same time very into playing out police, prison and military stories. It's finally OK with him that I don't like guns, whew!

However you honor this day, enjoy!
