Dear LoveTribe,

Whew! What a week it has been! Amidst the whirlwind of global events, with the new regime "DOGe peeing on their territory" (Coup d'Etat unfolding), from fires to floods and being snowed under, it's been a time for deep reflection and connection. Fear is only your friend as an alert to make the changes we see needed and support where we can. Yet don't invite fear into your home .... ommmmmm.

While I won't delve into the (overwhelming) minor details of my personal challenges this last week, I am reminded of a valuable lesson from my grandson Kobe. The importance of being aware of all the neurodivergent ways that people respond to change: the importance of compassion. Each of us faces challenges—some clearly visible, others less so, but all significant in their personal contexts. It's not about the size of the challenge but the support we offer each other. As you all know our buying choices are votes for the world we want to live in. Yes, Amazon's ease of buying is a necessity for many in these times of life seeming to speed up. And yet we don't want to empower Besos. So where and when you can, buy from small businesses, especially women and/or black owned businesses. This not only helps grow our community, but it also strengthens a circle of empowerment that we all benefit from.
Self care with together care.
In these transformative times, feeling comfortable and beautiful in our skin is not a luxury but a necessity. We've crafted our collections with this in mind, steering clear of the typical leisure/athletic wear woven from plastics that are not only bad for the environment but leach plastics into our bodies. Our thoughtfully designed "comfort wear" is not only healthier to wear but also ensures that you feel comforted and radiantly graceful.
And with our final discount offer—a perfect chance to procure!

Next month after the sale, we are excited to introduce a new clothing trade-in initiative! This sustainable step is our way of embracing change and fostering a circular economy within our community.

Join us in celebrating the oneness that binds us, as we navigate these changing tides together. Thank you for being a part of our LoveTribe; your strength and spirit uplift us all.

Together, let's continue to "grow with the flow" and thrive.

Keeping flexible is essential!

These 2 LoveTriber's sent me this pic of this position I showed them. I keep it at my desk to remind me to do it! It is a position taught to me in a magical moment with Moshe Feldenkrais. He said, just do this the rest of your life!
He was so right!
