Pt Richmond Music Festival

Tomorrow Friday! 8/8/25

Dancing in the streets with 5:30 Burrows and Dilbect
6:45 Big Blue Soul Revue
Our Pt Richmond shop will be open until 5:30ish before the music. There are lower prices in our Pt Richmond shop because the overhead is so much lower. Just an FYI option!

VOTED "BEST OUTDOOR MUSIC FESTIVAL" BY BEST OF THE EAST BAY!

Our outdoor concert venue is at the corner of Park Place and Washington Avenue in historic downtown Point Richmond. Concerts are held on the second Friday of June, July and August, from 5:30 pm to 8ish.

Local restaurants are open on concert nights, offering a wide array of cuisine. We feature art by The Arts of Point Richmond, face painting for children, and dancing in the street.

Dear LoveTribe

Phew! We did it! That was fun! (tiring in a good way!)

We're out of our old beloved space and in our new beloved space! And what a beautiful new space! And of course, what makes it beloved is our community, which we've loved seeing so many of you during this process.

When we think about moving in a few months (6+ months please! 🤞), we could get anxious, Oh no! but we don't go there. We stay in curiosity with so much appreciation for our "upgrade". Come check it out, dress (the sale continues) and hang with each other in our cool new boardroom turned "bordello" community room.

We will continue to strengthen our muscle of "growing with the flow" as we all have the opportunity in these tumultuous times to do. While many of us navigate our challenges from a place of relative comfort—far from the harrowing realities faced in Gaza, Sudan, or Ukraine—there's an undeniable urgency to confront the shadows of our collective fears. The heartbreakingly genocidal unfolding in Gaza serve as a stark reminder that our actions are no longer shrouded in secrecy; they are under the watchful eyes of the world.

This era forces us to reflect on how fear can manifest as anxiety, hatred, and impulsive reactions. However, as we observe our responses, both individually, and collectively, we learn to cultivate a sense of safety and awareness rooted in our interconnectedness and make better choices rooted in this awareness. It's a powerful realization that encourages us to take responsibility for our own emotional states rather than casting blame. This is particularly evident in the nurturing leadership styles often exhibited by women, who, unlike the old patriarchal norms of "buck up and fight back," tend to resolve conflicts as a mother with understanding and compassion. We are now witness to our "shadows", the outcome/effect of operating out of fear. Fear that justifies our anxieties, our hatred, our disregard and lashing out.

And as we witness our reactions, both personally and collectively, we will get better at keeping "ourselves" (with the awareness of our oneness) safe from "our" disregard. No longer blaming others for our own reactions. Personally, my greatest challenge—and perhaps my most rewarding growth opportunity—lies in my daily role as a grandmother to a brilliant and spirited six-year-old boy. Each day is a lesson in patience, creativity, and unconditional love, as well as being in the presence of an amazing being and a bigger window into these times coming. Gratitude as my mental loop attitude!

Looking forward to seeing more of you!

Be Fearless- Choose Love
xoxo Devi
