Aloha LoveTribe,

We're bringing in the new year with our New Year SALE to Shine and Be SEEN in 2017. Everything will be at least 20% off, with MANY pieces having been put on the 50% off, $24, $38 and $49 racks.

For our LoveTribe (you!) we will be offering an additional 10% off your entire purchase, but you must say the password: LoveTribe

This last year at Outback won Best of the East Bay and runner up for Best of Ashland. We've heard from hundreds of you appreciating our contributions: uping your game style wise and comfort wise, finding a treasure at a great price, cleaning out your closet for the recycle rack in the Pt Richmond shop, getting comfort from my words and from our holding a space of love, beauty and fun.

We (Outback Servient Goddesses) have become closer with each other, more supportive and learned more about ourselves, while learning not to judge ourselves and each other. Or more likely judging but then catching ourselves! We're better at catching ourselves! Although we have so much love and appreciation for each other it's not that hard ;)

And yes, for us all, it's been a strong gale of a year. Standing up for compassion and awareness of our oneness with Black Lives Matter and Standing Rock. And growing this compassion through all the transitions of inspirational Icons and within our community of personal family, health, money and home, including Ghost Ship (wow, that name!). These have the elements of loss/grief, of appreciation for artists contribution to life (like water and food), of the housing issues for artists and displaced residents with increasing rents, what the Occupy movement was shining a light on ... and then there was the shocking election outcome.

My daughters and I are astrologically fire, water and air. We all take in and release energy in different ways. We've learned not to resist but to use our different energies. When shock hits, without resisting, the ripples smoothe out, the air calms and the fire dissipates. We've learned to join our elements in ways that enhance; growing with the flow while not putting a damper on needed energy, blowing away unwanted patterns without getting blown away, and igniting passion without getting burned.

In our "LoveZone" Outback, our mission is to not judge all that has transpired or add to the fray of fear, anger or hatred. It is to hold a vision of all, as healing our fractious world and our coming together in our awareness of our oneness. Besides our intention to create a safe peaceful space, our Stylists and Temple hostesses are here to support you in finding clothing that will make you feel good in your skin, BeYouToFull (beautiful and fully ourselves) in order to SHINE and be SEEN in 2017!

May this coming year find us healthy, feeling the love, feeling our beauty and worth, and living this dream in great fullness.

(missing Clare, Yvonne, Margot, Yukiko, Tashina, Ulam)

Although I didn't think it was up to "par", after hearing how this 1 minute video brought peace to rough times for some of our Love Tribe, I decided to post bigger instead of hidden! Once again proving Eric Utne's grandmothers' belief, that "If it's worth doing, it's worth doing poorly!")
