Aloha Lovetribe,

"Hard work pays off in the future, laziness pays off now."

This was my fortune cookie a few nights ago along with a selfie I took at 1 am after a fun day and night in Las Vegas. I was showing Jan that I was wearing my current favorite Jan Micheals necklace and earrings (super light weight and picks up the colors in any outfit!). Letting her know I got many compliments walking the trade shows in Las Vegas.

Like most people I have "opportunities" (many call challenges) that had tired me out and squeezed my time shorter at the shows in Vegas (18 large trade shows I puruse there). Getting this fortune cookie was reminding me of my intention of living a "retired" work life. I was able to do all the shows at a pace that was completely enjoyable for me. Including sleeping in and hanging out with friends at night. I was feeling lazy about beginning our semi-annual Sale. Then Karen from The Monthly called with an offer for an ad I couldn't refuse. You know I love a good deal! (of which I found many beautiful things and great deals, at the shows, for the coming season). It does start the sale a week earlier then I was planning though. AND of course, I want to give you all first picks, thus this quick email. Private sale days will be Thursday and Friday and the public sale begins Saturday.

Ashland sale begins the following week.

The other things that motivate me are beauty, music (dancing), and fun ... for everyone. The balanced life of a lazy girl and a hard working woman (or vis versa!). Having my cake and eating it too! May this sale be a bit of delicious cake for you all.

PS Sorry ... too lazy to edit into fewer more potent words (or to send to my editor ;)
