Is this Be Fearless - Choose Love magnet for your car, your file cabinet, your fridge (like mine on the right). A reminder that true love is active, it is a choice, moment by moment, thought by thought, action by action. Re-Gift! No purchase necessary!

Being Fearless by Choosing Love xoxo Devi

PS Check out the beautiful love journeys below. One of the slow art retreats that my daughter Diva is doing in Venice, which to me is romancing love into our lives.

A slow living creative retreat in one of the most magical and romantic cities in the world, Venice, Italy!!

My Secret Venice, We will stay in a 4-star luxury historic palazzo, explore the city like locals, all the while making time to connect to our creativity, to each other, and follow our inspiration!

Our mornings will begin with a luxurious breakfast, followed by a meditation, a short Italian lesson, and a slow art workshop ... More at

Day at the Beach in Point Richmond ... One of those magical synchronistic moments. Shaye and I were doing a shoot for the Oakland & Alameda Magazine Style issue, and Dafina a favorite model (model person in all ways!) jumped right in. Photo for the mags below. We felt like going to the beach and headed to the Point. I suggested we stop in and see if Vivien was around and we could use her house and the beach in front. She said she was just about to go paddle boarding and we were welcomed. I handed her a Johnny Was white dress and said, here, wear this. At the end of the shoot as we were leaving, she said she had just begun a healing journey that afternoon. It had been suggested that she wear white for the next 2 months but she didn't have anything at all that inspired her to wear white. She texted a week later saying that she's been wearing white since, with that piece layered in with all her outfits! That's her on the water! She rents a magical space attached to her home on the water on Airbnb. If you or friends are needing a beautiful journey spot, (three bedrooms!) you can see it at airbnb.com/rooms/9973205
