Aloha LoveTribe,

Seasons change, stories change, maybe we're about to make a regime change!

At Outback we're making a seasonal merchandise change! This gives you an opportunity for huge discounts on past treasures and current fall merchandise.

My intention is to dress our community for the season, our stories unfolding.

This new season may we embark on a path of worth, self worth and appreciating the worth of all, of life.

Piper and Boots after w resting play

Enjoying being in our bodies in whatever form they are in now (assuming if you are reading this you have a body!) And yes, I know for some, at this point, that is heroic, both appreciating all and enjoying being in body. As my friend Karen along with other's have said, life is a Hero's Journey. (Check out her toolkit for this journey at <http://soul-source.org/>.)

Feeling our worth as well as our privilege to be in body ... this is a season of change, in our awareness, in our stories, in our language and into clothing that enhances feeling and sharing our worth. Change from within (breathe in peace, breathe out a smile) and change from without (dress with creativity and intention, vote! and take gentle care of your precious self and others) ... it's a dance ...partner!
