Now, easier navigation, more products in mens, jewelry, gift certificates
I've been living in cozycashmere sweaters, ponchos, fun scarves, and water resistant jackets as I chase Kobe down the street. We've added these ponchos and sweaters online . And water resistant jackets. Adding more accessories soon!

These are pictures of our magical bunny Hsiao-Yee, wearing Maria Grazia Panizzi shirt w/tie and MGP ruffle blouse, and Inizio linen jacket and skirt. She not only made those heads for our Berkeley window display, she's my amazing assistant and friend to many of us!

We are launching with an additional 25% off to our LoveTribe

Spring renewal ...

Nameste LoveTribe!

I love bunnies, I love spring and I love hot showers and baths that I'm blessed to be able to have.

We are beginning a spring renewal. The beauty of nature with all her new blossoms. My other bunny, grandson Kobe (almost 18 months!), loves to walk around the neighborhood, smelling plants and flowers, splashing in puddles and dancing with his shadow.

As we celebrate Spring, Easter, Passover, Buddha's birthday (today) or the beginning of Ramadan in a couple of weeks, we're celebrating inner life, gratitude and new life blossoming.

Right now a critical mass can begin to see we're all in this together. We breathe the same air, we drink the same water. We also witnessed how quickly the world can mobilize to work together. Yes, there are many inequities to be addressed and a critical mass is beginning to realize we can't afford not to, even if not for moral reasons. This has always been the case as we move towards the 6th great extinction and towards the involution of the "I" of us, but it took this microscopic being to wake us up. Humanity as a whole will continue to get kinder and we will continue to get better at breathing into the moment, enjoying what each moment holds.

Continue to dress for a magical life, filled with beauty, creativity and curiosity, while you dance with your shadow and make a big splash!

xoxo Devi
