Aloha LoveTribe,

Thank-You!! My cup runneth over with love and support. From coming in to ordering online, to sending encouraging love letters once again! I'm humbled and grateful.

A few stories from this week:

The picture here isn't from this week as we can't get that close but from an earlier time Outback.

Wavy Gravy and his Goddess Jahanara (truly the most beautiful, delightful, nurturing goddess energy on the planet - and my planet is filled with that energy, so saying a lot!) came by this week to shop.

In a future email (or story blog I'm thinking about recording) I'll tell you stories of times that Wavy brought lightness into my life, to shine into yours.

I wasn't in the shop when they came by but was told Wavy said, "Where's Devi?" and Jah said, "We aren't here to see Devi, we are here to support her". And even though they aren't big consumers, and in these times ... they came over and they did shop! Wow!

Renee also came by to show her support, another generous shopper and agreed to model this Johnny Was tunic ... thank-You!! Wow!

And then a 7 year old boy came in with his mom to shop so we would stay open. He asked if there was anything in his size, and when told no, he said, "That's OK I can buy this shirt for when I grow into it, I want you to stay open." And he did! Wow!

Roslyn also came by this week. This photo of her modeling a Johnny Was dress was from a couple of years ago when she was 95 years young.

Although she is now assisted by a wheelchair, she still came in to support us! WoW!

And then those love letters! WOW! I'm trying to keep this letter short (a feat for me!) so I'm not including snippets ... but so filled with appreciation for our Temple and the Goddesses that have served Outback over the years.

When I email Jahanara to thank her, she wrote back, "I hope all the crazy generous kindness that you have shared with others will come rushing back to you". Yes, Jah ... it is ... to the point of tears. She also said, "This is a strange time but there seems to be a lot of us paying attention to each other. I hope it will see us through" Yes, me too. And so far it's been doing just that.

Not that there won't be many people acting irrationally out of fear, as usual but also heightened ... yet this too can grow the love if we choose to stand on that side of the coin.

A few of days ago there was a demolition of the shops on 4th that I share a wall with (Papyrus, Bare Essentials, Bagel shop, Jest Jewels). My landlord neglected to tell us this would be happening and what was planned. We didn't know until our walls were shaking. After pressing the issue I found out that there would be 7 months of construction! I'm not yet sure what we will be doing (ideas welcomed!). For now, we are open everyday but Tuesday and it seems like the worst of the demolition is over for awhile, as those shops are now completely gutted.

Thanks also for finding us Black models, you will be seeing their beautiful faces soon (keep them coming!). Now, please help us find some black stylist/hostesses to work a minimum 4 hour day (1- 5 days).

Others also welcomed to join us!

Being Fearless - Choosing love

xoxo Devi
