Aloha LoveTribe,

Thank-You!! Our liquidation LoveFest continues ... This Week:

Nor, Nataya & Moonlight additional 30% off!

And continuing the previous discounts:
Citron 30% off, Inizio 50% off, Mens 30%
off, all foot wear 50% off!

Also free with purchase, a small bottle of hand sanitizer or 2 if you want to give one to a person in need. I've been passing them out (making sure my own hands are sanitized before getting one out) to homeless people as I pass them on the street or stopped in my car at an offramp to the freeway where they are requesting support.

I know most of us are overwhelmed by this crazy movie we find ourselves in. Yet it is this systemic inequity, this imbalance, created out of fear and lack of love which creates greed, feeling unworthy, hatred, and it is up to us all to repair. In fact it is a gift for us to repair as it grows the love that makes life joyful and makes us capable of being aware of our oneness.

A couple of stories from this week:

This beautiful woman, Andrea, came in this week to cash in a gift certificate from 1995! She also brought in the newsletter from that era. Wow! She still had them! I used to send out 2 newsletters a year.

Thanks for modeling Andrea! And for the long connection.

She's looking fabulous in a dress from the Norwegian designer Nor

May we be able to honor a gift certificate in 2045!

And yeah! I had a backyard social distancing, wearing new masks, playdate with my dear friends Jahanara and Wavy Gravy. (see below for all things Wavy). They were both wearing their new Outback finds.

So here's the Wavy story I spoke of in the last newsletter.

About 25 years ago (hmmm two 25 years ago stories in one week!). I had a vision/experience of the future of our collective mind. It felt like a "mindquake", an earthquake of the mind. It was hard to tell the ground from the sky. The next day Wavy came by Outback and I told him of this vision and he said, Instead of mindquakes, turn them into mirthquakes! YES!

Jah wearing Everyone's a Star T and Wavy in Fab silk Citron shirt

We are on the roller coaster, enjoy the ride, that future's in sight ... laugh and scream in delight!

And as we cultivate our inner core, our intuition, our sense of humor and fun ... we learn to trust in the unfolding. We are involuting into the awareness of our oneness.

On that note of not knowing, there are deep fakes and hacking to navigate, my personal email was hacked this week. If you ever get an email from me that just has a link and not a message ... or a message that doesn't sound like me ... it probably isn't. My intention is to enhance the flow of love and beauty ... if it doesn't do that (even if I did write it!) ... DELETE!

So everything Wavy ... well a few things ... the movie about him Saint Misbehavin is a fabulous, fun and enLightening movie, as is his autobiography, Something Good for a Change: Random Notes on Peace Thru Living. I wish I still had some copies Outback, as they're hard to find. I've read mine many times! Always fun! And his two other amazing gifts to the world, that deserve what ever donations you can come up with, Seva ending blindness and helping over 40 million people see in underserved communities (along with Larry Brilliant and Ram Das). And my favorite of his and Jahanara's babies (Jah has always been backbone as well as "co-heart" to everything Wavy) ... Camp Winnarainbow. They're doing a day camp this summer which as a full time "granmama", I know how essential that is to the kids and the parents. If you want to help them break even, donate here

May your days be filled the synchronistic miracles ... small and large, that expand as you notice and appreciate them.

As always ... Being Fearless - Choosing Love

xoxo Devi
